AT LYCEUM THEATRE.

There will be an attraction at the New Lyceum Theatre this week, Thursday, June 7th, that is of unusual interest.

Prof. H. Womersley for some time past has been teaching vocal music in the public schools of our city, and now he proposes to show the public something of what the children can do. For the past two weeks he has had a chorus of 200 children in training and on Thursday next afternoon and evening he will give a concert of national and patriotic music. The chorus will be dressed, some in red, some in white, some in blue, and will be arranged on an elevated platform, so as to represent the "Living Shield."

The program will embrace the national airs of America the part of the program will embrace the national airs of America the part of the program will embrace the national airs of America the part of the program will embrace the national airs of America the part of the part of
